

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A modular shelving system for mounting to vertical standards wherein mounted to shelves and supporting brackets are one or more hooked-tang keys and one or more spacers mounted to the brackets so as to build out the base ends of the brackets to align the tangs on the keys with existed mounting slots in the columns of the standards. The keys and spacers allow for adjustment of the width of the column spacing on the standards.